

CAROLINE LOPEZ-PERRY, Ph.D.

Professional Learning Specialist

BIOGRAPHY

"I take pride in helping the school counseling profession develop the knowledge and skills to improve school counselor service delivery and K-12 educational outcomes, and enjoy leading in-services and developing partnerships with school districts."

Dr. Caroline Lopez-Perry is an Assistant Professor in the school counseling program at California State University Long Beach. She teaches graduate students in the masters' counseling program with a focus on school counseling. She presents at state, regional and national conferences in the fields of counseling and education along with publishing articles in scholarly journals. Her scholarly interests include college and career readiness, group counseling, school counselor curriculum, and school counselor leadership and training.

Dr. Lopez-Perry is actively engaged in service to the counseling profession. She has served as a board member of the Ohio School Counselor Association (OSCA) and is currently serving her third term on the board of directors for the California Association of School Counselors (CASC). Furthermore, she is on the editorial board for the Journal for Specialist in Group Work where she contributes her expertise in the area of group counseling and counseling curriculum. Lastly, Dr. Lopez-Perry was co-coordinator of the School Counseling Interest Network, a national group of school counseling faculty through the Association for Counselor Education and Supervision.

PROFESSIONAL HIGHLIGHTS

- Co-author of the CASC Best Practice Guidelines for California School Counselors
- Co-developed the 2019 California CTC School counselor training standards
- Recipient of the 2020 CASC Counselor Educator of the Year award and the 2019 Alabama Counseling Association Research Award

FUN FACTS

- Caroline is a life-long Dodgers fan!
- Caroline loves to travel with her husband.

Email

Carolinelopez32@gmail.com

Twitter

@DrLopezPerry