BIOGRAPHY

When school counselors implement a data informed, student-centered (Gysbers) comprehensive school counseling program the entire school community benefits. I like to see the difference a quality school counseling program makes for STUDENTS especially. In my experience, forming relationships is the key to becoming an effective school counselor and implementing a comprehensive program. Relationships with administration, teachers, staff, and most importantly, students and their parents/guardians is critical!

Mark has extensive experience in developing school counseling programs at the elementary, secondary, and postsecondary levels. Mark began his educational career as a middle and high school science teacher. Realizing a desire to impact students in a more defined and effective way, Mark decided to pursue a Masters Degree in School Counseling. His teaching faculty, who were practitioners, included Dr. Judy Bowers. Mark found his niche in school counseling as an elementary and secondary school counselor and soon was contributing to the profession as an advocate and leader. Mark's professional leadership experience includes: Past President of the Arizona School Counselors Association (AzSCA), Western Region Vice President for the American School Counselor Association (ASCA); and Co-Chair of the ASCA Position Statement Committee for over 10 years. In addition, Mark was a Recognized ASCA Model Program (RAMP) reviewer for two years and a lead reviewer for the last four years. Mark has led school and district training in the implementation of comprehensive school counseling programs and has presented at local, state, and national conferences. Mark's training opportunities have been in a variety of settings including Yokohama, Japan (DODEA), BSSD in Unalakleet, Alaska, Hilo, Hawaii, and Marksville, Louisiana. Mark has mentored many Arizona school counselors and programs in the implementation of comprehensive school counseling programs. It was through these professional endeavors that Mark was recognized by the Arizona School Counselors Association with the Judy Bowers Distinguished Service Award in 2017.

FUN FACTS

- Mark was lucky enough to meet one of his boyhood heroes while co-developing school counseling curriculum for the Sally Ride Science Academy. Sally Ride captured America's fascination in the summer of 1983 as America's first woman in space. Mark's family had been involved in the city's fireworks show and took pictures of the "space shuttle" firework taking off with the "Ride, Sally, Ride!" slogan.
- Mark has become a dedicated runner in the past 10 years, having completed a marathon, 14 half marathons, and many 5K and 10K races in that time.
