Executive Assistant & Professional Learning Coach

BIOGRAPHY

"I am passionate about school counseling because I believe every student deserves access to someone who will listen to them, advocate for them and empower them to be the best they can be. School counseling is not just a career for me, it's a passion and an energy that is brought into the school day to keep the heart of the school pumping. I believe that school counselors are collaborators, problem solvers and teammates to all stakeholders in the school system. I am deeply motivated to help school counselors be the best they can be for our students by providing data-driven, comprehensive school counseling programs, because that's what our students deserve!"

Amy Double-Madigan has been an elementary school counselor for eight years and is passionate about all students having access to a school counselor, especially at a young age. Her passion for school counseling has motivated her to be actively engaged in the profession. She has been a part-time lecturer in graduate school counseling programs (most recently at California State University, Long Beach) as well as having served on the Board of Directors for the California Association of School Counselors for many years, including President of the Board. Amy has also published articles sharing her counseling perspectives in the ASCA magazines and enjoys presenting at state and national conferences.
